DECEMBER 2020 IPEC INSTITUTE

Register Now for the December 2020 IPEC Virtual Institute

The Early Bird Saves Until September 4!

The Interprofessional Education Collaborative \(IPEC\) is holding its first ever virtual faculty development institute titled Building Effective Interprofessional Education (IPE) for Collaborative Practice on December 1, 3, 8 and 10.

A unique high-quality longitudinal virtual certificate program, the Virtual December 2020 IPEC Institute will open a wide and ongoing discussion on our collective local and national IPE experiences and challenges, especially with regard to our students and patients. For more details and answers to FAQs, click here.

Faculty teams, healthcare partners, and single learners are invited to come together for dedicated time to emerge with a programmatic action plan for developing and implementing IPE curricula that will prepare learners for collaborative practice.

Tuition includes full access to asynchronous online learning modules, four days of synchronous sessions, and networking opportunities; plus access to all session recordings after the Institute has ended. Additionally, participants will be invited to join a virtual community where they will continue to develop their educational projects or curricula, network and receive feedback from colleagues and experts, and have the option to share their work with a global audience.

Registration opens on Wednesday, August 5. Super early bird savings until Friday, September 4! Sign up online at www.ipecollaborative.org.

For more information, contact IPEC Associate Director Shelley McKearney at smckearney@aacnnursing.org.
