DUES INCREASE

Policy

Dues increases are determined by the AAVMC Assembly.

Procedures

Annual dues increases will be rounded to the next $100.00 and will not exceed three percent. This policy will be reviewed by the Assembly every five years. Policy

It is the policy of the AAVMC to collect annual dues from members in a timely manner and to follow up quickly with any members who are delinquent in their dues.

Procedures

- Second Reminder: On August 15, the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) will send an email to all AAVMC member representatives that have not submitted their payment to determine the reason for the outstanding dues; confirm their intent to continue membership; and establish the member's planned timeline for payment.
- If payment is not received or a payment plan is not agreed to by September 30, the Treasurer will send a letter to the member representative advising that membership has been put on Probation Status, which means the suspension of all member benefits including the right to vote or hold an elected or appointed position in the AAVMC.
- Payment of all dues in arrears plus current dues will be required within the next 12 months to restore full membership.

FINANCIAL RESERVE

Policy

It is the goal of the AAVMC to have a financial reserve fund of at least seventy-five percent (75%) of the annual operating budget. The financial reserve funds may be used during times of unanticipated emergencies until the emergency situation can be fully assessed and a longer-term strategy can be developed.

Procedures

The Finance Committee will develop a plan to establish a financial reserve fund of 75% of the annual operating budget and present it to the Board of Directors for approval. This plan will include a time frame for the reserve goal to be achieved. The financial reserve fund will be invested as described in the Investment Statement Policy and earned interest will remain in the fund. The Finance Committee will review the level of the reserve fund annually and make recommendations to the Board of Directors regarding potential adjustments to this plan.

Once the financial reserve fund goal is met, the Chief Executive Officer will inform the Treasurer if the reserve fund drops below 75% of the annual operating budget and make recommendations for corrective action.

In the event of an organizational emergency, the Chief Executive Officer will notify the Treasurer and the Executive Committee. Upon unanimous approval by the Executive Committee, financial reserve funds may be used to cover emergency expenses. Further withdrawals of any amount will require approval by the Board of Directors. No single withdrawal shall be greater than half of the balance of the fund.

Changes to this reserve policy shall be proposed by the Finance Committee and approved by the Board of Directors.

FUND DEVELOPMENT

Policy

AAVMC solicits grants and donations in a professional and organized manner. The Board of Directors approves such solicitations and the Chief Executive Officer manages them. Only members of the Board of Directors and the Chief Executive Officer may officially represent the Association in fund development activities.

All fundraising activities will be coordinated through the office of the Chief Executive Officer in order to avoid conflicting requests to potential grantors or donors, non-approved solicitation, duplicate solicitation, or requests for different purposes or amounts to the same grantor or donor.

Every effort will be made to avoid any conflict with the fundraising activities of AAVMC Member Institutions. If there is any indication that AAVMC activities are conflicting with the activities of a Member Institution, AAVMC will stop its activity and coordinate with the affected institution(s). AAVMC will not resume its activity until the conflict has been resolved to the satisfaction of the affected institution(s).

Background

AAVMC has been the beneficiary of gifts and grants from individuals, industry, government organizations and foundations. Funds from these sources are vital to the operations of the Association.

Gifts and grants are not only very important for AAVMC operations and functions; they help to keep membership dues, fees and assessments at reasonable levels. Without such support, dues, fees and assessments would be higher, or Association services to members would be reduced or curtailed.

Procedures

- The Chief Executive Officer is the single point of contact for all fundraising activities. The Chief Executive Officer may delegate alternate contact persons in specific cases.
- Funds can be used for restricted purposes as directed by the grantor or donor, or for unrestricted operating support.
- There shall be proper and thorough accounting of all funds collected.
- Appropriate and official expressions of gratitude are to be forwarded in a timely manner.

INVESTMENT POLICY STATEMENT

I. SCOPE

This policy outlines the goals and the investment objectives for all reserve funds, long term special board designated funds and operational funds beyond the one-year need, herein after called "Investment Fund".

This document is intended to provide investment guidelines for managing the Investment Fund, and available operational funds for investment. To distinguish between operational and short-term board designated funds one account will be created separate from the longer term Reserve fund. This document will outline certain specific investment policies that will govern how the Investment Fund's goals are expected to be achieved. This statement will include:

- The allocation of short term needs of funds for association's yearly special needs and what funds are available for long term investment (long term being defined as over 5 years)
- It will describe the appropriate risk posture for the Investment Fund's assets,
- It will establish investment guidelines regarding the selection of investment manager, permissible securities and diversification of assets,
- It will specify the criteria for evaluating the performance of the investment manager(s) and the Investment Fund as a whole,
- It will define the responsibilities of the Board of Directors, Executive Committee, and the Investment committee and other parties responsible for the management of the Investment Fund's assets
- The policy statement will outline each party's fiduciary responsibilities including the scope of the fund, the cash flow and liquidity needs, the selection of investment committee to oversee the Investment Fund, the investment consultant and managers, the reporting and the review processes.

II. GENERAL OBJECTIVES

The primary objectives, in priority order, of investment activities shall be safety, liquidity, and yield:

1. Safety

Safety of principal is the foremost objective of the investment program. Investments shall be undertaken in a manner that seeks to ensure the preservation of capital in the overall portfolio. The objective will be to mitigate credit risk and interest-rate risk.

a. Credit Risk

AAVMC in its Investment Fund will minimize credit risk, the risk of loss due to the failure of the security issuer or backer, by:

- Pre-qualifying the financial institutions, broker/dealers, intermediaries, and advisors with which the corporation will do business; and
- Diversifying the portfolio so that potential losses on individual securities will be minimized.

b. Interest-Rate Risk

The Investment Fund shall be invested in such a manner to minimize the risk that the market value of securities in the portfolio will fall due to changes in general interest rates, by:

- Structuring the investment portfolio so that securities mature to meet cash requirements for special needs approved by the board, thereby avoiding the need to sell securities on the open market prior to maturity;
- Structuring the investment portfolio to consistently take advantage of market appreciation without trying to “time” the market; and
- Acquiring a total diversified portfolio that its structure at a maximum is allocated to:
 - 40% fixed assets – bonds, government securities CDs and repurchase agreements – mixture to be established with a financial advisor, and
 - 60% invested in equities – mixture to be established with the financial advisor to represent assets classes such as domestic large and mid/small growth and value and international stocks.
- The portfolio is generating a long-term rate of return of 5-6% given its invest allocation of 60% to stock and 40% to fixed income.

At no time shall the Investment Fund be invested in hedge funds, leverage type purchases, option strategies, private placement, investments in limited partnership, and/or investment that will establish conflict of interest within the association and or the investment manager.

2. Liquidity

The investment portfolio shall remain sufficiently liquid to meet all operating requirements that may be reasonably anticipated. This is accomplished by structuring the portfolio so that securities mature concurrent with cash needs to meet anticipated demands. Furthermore, since all possible cash demands cannot be anticipated, the portfolio should consist largely of securities with active secondary or resale markets. A portion of the portfolio also may be placed in bank deposits or repurchase agreements that offer same-day liquidity for short-term funds.

3. Yield

The investment portfolio shall be designed with the objective of attaining a market rate of return throughout budgetary and economic cycles, taking into account the investment risk constraints and liquidity needs. The portfolio has a current expected rate of return of 5% over a full business cycle. This return is calculated using the following calculation: (long term expected return for equity x 0.60) + (current yield of the fixed income portfolio x 0.40). Return on investment is of secondary importance compared to the safety and liquidity objectives described above. The core of investments is limited to relatively low risk securities in anticipation of earning a fair return relative to the risk being assumed. Securities shall not be sold prior to maturity with the following exceptions:

- a security with declining credit may be sold early to minimize loss of principal;
- a security swap would improve the quality, yield, or target duration in the portfolio; and
- liquidity needs of the portfolio require that the security be sold.

III. STANDARDS OF CARE

1. Prudence

The standard of care to be used by investment officials shall be the “prudent person” standard and shall be applied in the context of managing an overall portfolio. The board of directors, acting in accordance with written procedures and this investment policy, and exercising due diligence shall be relieved of personal liability for an individual security’s credit risk or market price changes, provided deviations from expectations are reported in a timely fashion and the liquidity and the sale of securities are carried out in accordance with the terms of this policy. (Prudent Person Rule is a standard that requires that a fiduciary with funds for investment may invest such funds only in securities that any reasonable individual interested in receiving a good return of income while preserving his or her capital would purchase).

2. Ethics and Conflicts of Interest

Financial advisors involved in the investment process shall refrain from personal business activity that could conflict with the proper execution and management of the investment program, or that could impair their ability to make impartial decisions.

Financial advisors shall disclose any material interests in financial institutions with which they conduct business. They shall further disclose any personal financial/investment positions that could be related to the performance of the investment portfolio. Directors and agents shall refrain from undertaking personal investment transactions with the same individual with which business is conducted on behalf of the corporation.

The investments chosen must be consistent with the values of AAVMC as determined by the AAVMC Ethics Committee. Financial advisors shall not knowingly cause AAVMC to invest in businesses whose activities and practices are deemed to be inconsistent with the mission and values of the Association as determined by the Ethics Committee. Financial advisors are required to have due regard to ethical and environmental issues and to maintain a dialogue with the companies in which they invest. In order to give effect to its commitment to this policy, the AAVMC Finance Committee and financial advisors will review on a regular basis whether any investment is contrary to the Association’s mission and this policy and consider whether the Association should not invest in, or should divest from, specific investments.

3. Delegation of Authority

Responsibility for the operation of the investment program is hereby delegated to the Finance Committee who will serve as the Investment Committee. The Investment Committee shall act in accordance with the established written procedures and internal controls for the operation of the investment program consistent with this investment policy. Procedures should include references to: safekeeping, delivery vs. payment, investment accounting, repurchase agreements, wire transfer agreements, and collateral/depository agreements. No person may engage in an investment transaction except as provided under the terms of this policy and the procedures established by the corporation. The Investment Committee shall be responsible for all transactions undertaken and shall establish a system of controls to regulate the activities of subordinate officials. On a case by case basis, after formal approval from the Board of Directors the Chief Executive Officer shall handle all financial transactions.

4. Audits

The books and records of the Investment Fund shall be audited or reviewed annually by a certified public accountant.

IV. SUITABLE AND AUTHORIZED INVESTMENTS

1. Investment Types

The detailed policy will delineate the securities that will be suitable to be purchase and the low and high allocation that each asset class will have within the total portfolio. The investments shall be diversified to minimize the risk of loss resulting from over concentration of assets in specific maturity, specific issuer, or specific class of securities. Diversification strategies shall be established and periodically reviewed.

In line with the return objectives and risk parameters of the Investment Fund, the mix of assets for the Investment Fund should be generally maintained as follows:

Asset Class	Minimum	Target Allocation	Maximum
Domestic Equity	32%	39%	45%
International Equity	17%	21%	25%
Fixed Income	32%	39%	48%
Cash	0%	1%	2%

The fixed income asset class will target a weighted average maturity of no greater than eight years and a weighted average credit rating of no lower than AA.

The domestic and international equity assets classes will reflect an allocation to all nine style boxes based on market capitalization (Large, Mid, Small) and style (Value, Blend, Growth.) The allocation to international equity will also include exposure to both developed and emerging markets.

The actual instruments to be purchased shall be decided with the advice of a financial advisor and the consent of the Investment Committee within the framework of the policy.

2. Benchmark

To measure the performance of the portfolio the investment manager and the investment committee will agree on various indices that are appropriate for the allocation of investment as an example it could Russell 3000, S&P 500, FTSE All World Ex US, MSCI EAFE, Russell 2000 Index, Barclay Intermediate Government, US Treasury & Agency 1-5 years, Barclays or Lehman Brothers US Aggregate Bond Index, 3 month US Treasury Bills.

3. Rebalancing Procedures

The allocations to each asset class are expected to remain stable over most market cycles. Since capital appreciation, depreciation, and trading activity in the Investment Fund can result in a deviation from the above allocations, the aggregate allocation should be monitored, and the Committee may re-balance the Investment Funds assets back to the target allocation on a periodic basis. In addition, if the asset classes move past their minimum or maximum ranges they will be rebalanced back to their targets. This can be done through the shifting of assets from one style to another and/or re-directing contributions and disbursements.

V. REPORTING

Management and financial advisor will prepare quarterly and annual investment reports, including a management summary that provides an analysis of the status of the investment portfolio and transactions made over the last quarter. This management summary will be prepared in a manner that will allow the board of directors to ascertain whether investment activities during the reporting period have conformed to the investment policy. The board of directors shall designate the investment committee to review and oversee the policy and report its review to the board. The report will include the following:

- a. Listing of individual securities held at the end of the reporting period;
- b. Listing of investment by maturity date;
- c. Percentage of the total portfolio that each type of investment represents;
- d. Comparison of the actual allocation of the portfolio compared to the target asset allocation listed in this document;
- e. Current market value of investment portfolio; and
- f. Market value deviation from previous reporting period, and year-to-date.

VI. ADOPTION

This policy shall be brought to the board of directors for adoption. Annually, the Chief Executive Officer shall bring this policy to the corporation's executive committee and board for review and any recommended changes will be presented to the board of directors for consideration and approval.

TRAVEL REIMBURSEMENT

Policy

This policy governs the reporting and reimbursement of travel expenses incurred during the conduct of AAVMC business. All persons who are authorized to travel on behalf of the AAVMC, including AAVMC employees, employees of Member Institutions, consultants, and guests, are expected to comply with this policy. All travelers must ensure that travel expenses are for valid business-related purposes, are in accordance with AAVMC policies and procedures, and are a prudent use of AAVMC funds.

Travel Expenses

The following travel expenses are reimbursable:

- Transportation
 - Air Travel: Air travel expenses will be reimbursed at a rate not higher than the cost of coach (economy) class air fare between the commercial airport nearest the traveler's home and the city of destination.
 - Rail Travel: Rail travel expenses will be reimbursed. The total amount of reimbursement shall not exceed the cost of round trip coach (economy) class air fare between the commercial airport nearest the traveler's home and the city of destination.
 - Personal Automobile Travel: Personal automobile travel will be reimbursed at the mileage rate currently permitted by U.S. General Services Administration. Tolls and parking fees associated with automobile travel are also reimbursable. The total amount of reimbursement shall not exceed the cost of round trip coach (economy) class air fare between the commercial airport nearest the traveler's home and the city of destination.
 - Ground transportation: Travel expenses to and from airports or rail stations by rail, taxi, shared vans, or personal automobiles (see above) will be reimbursed.
 - Rental Car:
 - Travelers may rent a car to their destination when driving is more cost effective than airline or rail travel.
 - Travelers may rent a car at their destination when it is less expensive than other ground transportation modes such as taxis, airport limousines and airport shuttles
 - Travelers should rent a compact vehicle if traveling alone. A midsize vehicle is allowable if traveling in groups of 2 or more.
 - AAVMC employees should decline all optional insurance coverage offered upon rental of a vehicle because insurance is provided through the AAVMC's business insurance carrier.
 - Non-AAVMC employees are not covered under the AAVMC's business insurance policy and are responsible for verifying coverage of the rental vehicle through their own or a third-party automobile insurance carrier.
- Lodging: Reasonable expenses for lodging will be reimbursed.
- Meals: Reasonable expenses for meals will be reimbursed, including meals on days of travel.
- Gratuities: Where appropriate and in accordance with local custom, reasonable tips will be reimbursed. Any tips considered excessive may not be reimbursed. Travelers should note that the gratuity may already be included in the total bill for large groups or in certain countries and therefore no additional gratuity should be added.

- Registration fees: Fees for meetings and conferences will be reimbursed, however, employees are encouraged to have such fees paid through the accounts payable system.
- Miscellaneous: Other miscellaneous out-of-pocket expenses such as internet access fees, baggage handling fees and reasonable tips are reimbursable.

The following items are not reimbursable:

- Airline club memberships
- Business class or first class air fare, or upgrades from coach (economy) class to business class or first class. The Chief Executive Officer (or in the case of the CEO, the Executive Committee) may approve business class travel upon request in certain circumstances, such as transcontinental or intercontinental travel.
- Child-care, babysitting, house-sitting, pet-sitting/kennel charges
- Laundry and dry cleaning
- Passports, vaccinations, and visas, unless required as necessary condition for travel
- Personal entertainment expenses including in-flight movies, headsets, health club facilities, hotel pay-per-view movies, in-theatre movies, hotel mini-bar, social activities and related incidental costs
- Travel accident insurance premiums and/or purchase of additional travel insurance
- Towing charges, vehicle repairs, parking tickets, speeding or other traffic violations while using personal or rental automobiles
- Other expenses not directly related to the business travel

A spouse or other individual may accompany a traveler on a business trip at the traveler's expense. Any reimbursable spouse/companion travel must be approved by the Chief Executive Officer. However, travel and entertainment expenses incurred by a spouse or other individual are NOT reimbursable unless:

- There is a bona fide business purpose for taking the spouse or other individual
- The spouse/companion is an AAVMC employee and is on official AAVMC business
- The expense incurred would otherwise be reimbursable.

U.S. Department of State Travel Advisories

The AAVMC will not approve travel or reimburse expenses for travel to countries or parts of countries for which the U.S. Department of State has issued a Travel Advisory Level 3 (Reconsider Travel) or Level 4 (Do Not Travel). Any exceptions to this policy must be approved by the Board of Directors.

Travel Coordination

Travelers are responsible for making their own travel arrangements and reservations, but are encouraged to do so with the assistance of the AAVMC Administrative Assistant. The following guidelines must be followed when arranging business travel:

- Airline tickets should be booked at least 21 days in advance of travel to secure the best cost option.
- Travelers will obtain reasonable hotel accommodations at the single-occupancy rate.
- Employees may use the AAVMC corporate credit card or their AAVMC staff credit card to make airline and hotel reservations, secure rental cars, and to pay for all travel expenses.
- Travelers may use their personal credit card to pay any and all travel expenses.

Documentation

The AAVMC complies with Internal Revenue Service regulations which require that all business expenses be substantiated with adequate records. Therefore, receipts are required for all expenses regardless of the amount of the expense and whether or not the expense was paid by the traveler or paid with an AAVMC credit card. It is the traveler's responsibility to maintain receipts for travel expenses.

Reporting

The AAVMC uses a centralized travel expense management process that provides for a uniform and comprehensive accounting of all travel expenses. The Travel Expense and Reimbursement Request Form ("travel expense form") serves the dual purpose of itemizing and calculating the total cost of a particular business trip as well as calculating the out-of-pocket reimbursement request. The following procedures should be followed to report travel expenses and to make reimbursement requests:

- Travelers should submit all travel expense receipts and any supporting documentation to the AAVMC Administrative Assistant within 7 business days of completing travel.
- The AAVMC Administrative Assistant will prepare a travel expense form for the traveler's review.
- The traveler will review and sign the travel expense form and return it to the AAVMC Administrative Assistant.
- The AAVMC Administrative Assistant will submit the travel expense form to the Chief Operating Officer for review and approval.
- The Chief Operating Officer will submit the approved travel expense form to the Accounting Manager for processing and payment.

Travelers who choose to fill out their own travel expense form must follow the strict reporting instructions on the travel expense form.

Reimbursement

Travelers will be reimbursed for documented and approved travel expenses submitted in accordance with this policy as follows:

- Travelers will not be reimbursed for out-of-pocket expenses until travel is completed and a travel expense form has been approved and processed.
- Only those out-of-pocket expenses incurred beginning the first day of travel through the last day of travel will be considered for reimbursement, except those expenses paid by the traveler in advance of travel, such as air fare reservations or deposits for lodging.
- Reimbursements to AAVMC staff and consultants will be made electronically usually within 10 business days after approval.
- Reimbursements to non-AAVMC staff will be made by check usually within 10 business days after approval.

RESTRICTED FUNDS

Policy

This policy provides definitions and outlines the procedures for establishing and maintaining restricted funds.

Definitions

Permanently Restricted Net Assets have limitations on their use that are attached in perpetuity. Assets that are classified as permanently restricted must be listed as a separate category of assets on the Statement of Activities.

Temporarily Restricted Net Assets are subject to restrictions that are limited to a specific period of time. Temporarily restricted assets must be listed separately from permanently restricted and unrestricted assets on the Statement of Activities. When the restriction period expires, the asset value must be transferred into the unrestricted section of the Statement of Activities. This is a distinct type of transaction known as reclassification, which should be reported separately from other transactions.

Board-Designated Funds are funds that the Board of Directors has designated for a specific purpose. Board designated funds are maintained in the unrestricted net assets and the use of funds is designated internally.

Procedures

- The creation of each of these types of funds requires approval by the Board of Directors.
- Restricted funds must have a defined purpose and should have an assigned term, when possible.
- The source of the funds should be identified as Board designated or external sources.
- All restricted funds accounts should be evaluated at the end of each fiscal year by the Finance Committee.

SURVEY COMMITTEE SCOPE

Policy

The AAVMC Survey Committee provides an added layer of scholarly review to research projects targeting leaders at AAVMC member institutions. The survey review process also allows the Association to track national scope research projects and to encourage researcher collaboration on similar projects of interest.

Investigators with research projects with a national or international scope on veterinary medical education that identify the Deans, Associate Deans or other administrators at AAVMC member institutions as the survey population should seek approval from the AAVMC Survey Committee. Examples of national/international scope projects include, but are not limited to, multi-institutional research on trends in curriculum, outcomes assessment, campus climate or other topics that will contribute to the existing body of literature on veterinary medical education.

Procedures

- All surveys from outside organizations and companies are subject to AAVMC Survey Committee review.
- Brief, informal queries, which may be collegially made by administrators and staff through AAVMC listserve or SharePoint communication channels, are exempt from the survey review process.
- AAVMC approved surveys will be distributed to the survey population by AAVMC. All surveys not distributed through AAVMC channels are presumed to be unapproved.

Submissions should be received by the AAVMC prior to seeking Institutional Review Board (IRB) approval. Submissions should also be received for review at least six weeks prior to the anticipated start of data collection; please be advised that recommended revisions may extend this time frame.

Procedures

Required information for AAVMC study approval review:

1. Who is conducting the study, title, organization/company, and contact information,
2. A brief project summary that includes the purpose/objectives of the study, how the study builds on previous work and how the project will benefit the AAVMC and veterinary medical education,
3. What audience or population is targeted for completion of the study; please be as specific as possible,
4. Which AAVMC member institutions do you wish to survey (i. e. all colleges, or specifically US, Canadian, International colleges, Affiliate Members, Provisional Members, etc.),
5. A copy of the proposed study instrument along with preamble,
6. Estimate of time required to complete the survey based on a test with a representative from a similar target group,
7. How will the results be used and shared (i.e. publishing intentions),
8. A statement of intentions regarding the confidentiality of those responding, and if identities will be confidential, how will that confidentiality be achieved, and
9. A commitment to recognize AAVMC in an acknowledgment section of any published paper directly derived from this research.

Requests will be reviewed by AAVMC's Survey Committee. Revisions and additional questions may be required during the approval process. Approved surveys will be distributed to the intended survey population by AAVMC staff with the principle investigator copied on the communication. Failure to seek and/or gain approval of AAVMC study approval may result in member notification of the distribution of an unauthorized survey. Notification on approval status will be provided to the AAVMC membership via the Connect site.

RECORDS RETENTION AND DESTRUCTION

Policy

It is AAVMC's policy to satisfy the legal, accounting and tax requirements of records retention. This policy will allow AAVMC to identify, retain, store, and dispose of Association records in an appropriate, legally sound and orderly manner.

For the purpose of this policy, a record is any recorded information (regardless of form or medium) created, received and maintained by the AAVMC in pursuance of its legal obligations or in the transaction of business. The AAVMC is required by state and federal laws to retain certain types of records for specific periods of time. Those record types are identified in the Records Retention Schedule below.

Administration

The COO shall administer this policy. The COO is authorized to:

- monitor state and federal laws affecting record retention;
- make modifications to the Records Retention Schedule to ensure that it is in compliance with state and federal laws and includes the appropriate record categories for the Association;
- review annually the record retention and destruction program; and
- monitor compliance with this policy.

The Administrative Assistant will serve as Custodian of Records and will schedule and oversee the annual purge day during which records that have expired according to the retention schedule will be destroyed (unless determined by the COO or legal counsel to be exempt).

Responsibility

- Each employee is responsible for the retention of the Association records under his/her control
- Each employee is responsible for understanding this policy to identify which records in their control are to be retained according to the Records Retention Schedule.
- Each employee is responsible for retaining records under his/her control using the Association's file management system for efficient retrieval.
- The Accounting Manager is responsible for ensuring financial records are retained in his/her office according to the Records Retention Schedule. Alternatively, the Accounting Manager may turn over financial records to the Custodian of Records for on- or offsite storage.
- The Project Manager is responsible for ensuring Board, Assembly and committees meetings minutes are retained in the Association's file management system and in accordance with the Records Retention Schedule.
- The COO is responsible for ensuring all AAVMC governing and personnel records are retained in the Association's file management system and in accordance with the Records Retention Schedule.

Electronic Records

Electronic records will be retained as if they were paper records. Therefore, any electronic files that fall into one of the record types in the Records Retention Schedule will be retained for the appropriate amount of time. AAVMC file servers are backed up daily and maintained offsite. The backed up data is destroyed in the course of subsequent backups. If an employee has sufficient reason to keep an email message, the message should be printed in hard copy and kept in the appropriate file or moved to file folder on the server. Backups of electronic files stored on AAVMC servers are performed nightly for system restoration purposes. The backups are preserved for 30 days after which time they are erased.

Suspension of Record Destruction in the Event of Litigation or Claims

No director, officer, employee, volunteer or agent of the Association shall destroy, dispose of, conceal, or alter any record or document while knowing that it is or may be relevant to an anticipated or ongoing investigation or legal proceeding conducted by or before a federal, state or local government agency, including tax and regulatory agencies, law enforcement agencies, and civil and criminal courts, or an anticipated or ongoing internal investigation, audit or review conducted by the Association. During the occurrence of an anticipated or ongoing investigation or legal proceeding as set forth above, the COO shall suspend any further destruction of records until such time as the COO, with the advice of counsel, determines otherwise. The COO shall take such steps as necessary to promptly inform all staff of any suspension in the destruction of records.

Destruction Methods

All hardcopy personnel and financial records must be shredded before being disposed in the recycling or trash bin. Electronic records must be permanently destroyed by erasure or other method recommended by AAVMC’s IT consultant to ensure the records cannot practically be read or reconstructed.

Records Retention Schedule

AAVMC follows the records retention schedule outlined below. This schedule serves as a guide and is not intended to be all-inclusive. Please consult with the COO for guidance on records not listed on this schedule. All records will be retained physically at the AAVMC office or an offsite storage facility, or virtually on a secure electronic medium.

MEDIA RESPONSE

Policy

AAVMC recognizes that the popular press and veterinary trade media play an important role in facilitating the exchange of information and expanding the visibility of the Association. It is the AAVMC's policy to respond promptly, accurately, and effectively to media inquiries. Responses to media inquiries shall be formulated and delivered in a manner that:

- protects member organizations' confidentiality and privacy
- ensures accurate information is conveyed
- advances the Association's mission and goals;
- promotes the Association's programs and services; and
- highlights the Association's accomplishments and successes

Procedures

- a) The Chief Executive Officer serves as the official AAVMC spokesperson on all matters and will participate as primary source during media interviews. The Chief Executive Officer may determine that the AAVMC president should serve as spokesperson in certain situations. The Chief Executive Officer, at his/her discretion, also may designate a staff member to act as spokesperson.
 - b) When a staff member receives a media inquiry via telephone, they should ask the reporter for their name, organization, contact information, and deadline, and inform them that a communications officer will contact them promptly to address their inquiry. The staff member should immediately email the information to the Chief Executive Officer AND senior communications consultant.
 - c) If the inquiry is of a general nature, the senior communications consultant may use readily available information and/or curated data to respond to the inquiry.
 - d) If the inquiry requires a more detailed response, the Chief Executive Officer will work with the senior communications consultant to develop an appropriate response, or may assign a staff member to work with the senior communications consultant to develop a response.
 - e) If a reporter personally contacts the Chief Executive Officer for an interview, the Chief Executive Officer will decide whether to conduct the interview or assign it to someone else. The Chief Executive Officer shall copy the senior communications consultant on all correspondence related to the interview.
- If an AAVMC staff member is directly contacted by a reporter and specifically asked to be interviewed on a topic within their portfolio, they shall take the appropriate information from the reporter and tell the reporter that a communications officer will contact them. The staff member should email the information to the Chief Executive Officer AND senior communications consultant, and a decision will be made as to whether the Chief Executive Officer or the staff member will participate in the interview. AAVMC staff members shall not give on-the-spot interviews or provide non-vetted information to the media.

ETHICS POLICIES

AAVMC INTERACTION WITH CORPORATE SPONSORS

AAVMC interaction with corporate sponsors is critical to its sustainability and growth, and for the advancement its mission-related activities. The Board of Directors may authorize AAVMC to enter into corporate relationships to:

- Increase the dissemination of information, knowledge and solutions to support members' work
- Develop resources to produce and implement AAVMC mission-related programs, materials and activities
- Increase the overall capacity of AAVMC to serve as catalyst and convener on issues of importance to academic veterinary medicine
- Build partnerships and coalitions to advance mutual goals in academic veterinary medicine
- Help keep membership dues, fees and assessments at reasonable levels
- Increase public awareness for AAVMC's mission-related activities

In accepting support, financial or otherwise, from corporations with vested interests in how the public regards their products, AAVMC will avoid the existence and appearance of conflicts of interest. Therefore, AAVMC will enter into corporate relationships thoughtfully, with careful consideration thereof given to the possible unintended effects, especially regarding the organization's public trust. AAVMC may interact with corporate entities in several ways including:

- Partnership – A relationship created through a commitment between parties to combine their resources and join together to achieve common goals.
- Sponsorship – An arrangement where a corporation provides financial support to be associated with a specific event, activity or cause.
- Collaboration – A process to engage diverse entities to come together to find the best outcome for an issue or problem.

Guiding Principles for Corporate Relationships

- Mission-Related Benefit – AAVMC will solicit and accept support only for projects and activities which are consistent with AAVMC's mission. AAVMC will not engage in any corporate relationships that conflict with the mission of AAVMC or that could jeopardize AAVMC's tax-exempt status.
- Independence – AAVMC will always exercise independent judgment in its decision-making and shall at all times maintain an independent position on issues affecting the welfare of its constituencies. The potential effect of such positions on the commercial interests of a funding source shall not be a relevant factor in AAVMC's decision-making process.
- Consumer Communications – Materials from the corporation or AAVMC directed to the public will contain terms or statements such that a reasonable individual will understand the nature and extent of the corporate relationship.
- Endorsement – AAVMC will not endorse any products, devices or services.
- Intellectual Property – Any use of AAVMC's name, logo and identifying marks in the context of a corporate funded program or activity must be reviewed and approved by AAVMC in writing in advance of their use. The use of a name/logo and identifying marks should be specific as to application and period of usage. Terms for license and use must be spelled out in a contractual agreement and reviewed by counsel if possible. Upon expiration or termination of the agreement the corporation must immediately cease to use all licensed intellectual property and must return it to AAVMC.

- Written Agreement -- When corporate support is restricted to a specific program or activity, a written agreement between AAVMC and the corporation must be in place prior to implementation of the corporate relationship.

This policy is not exhaustive and, therefore, all related AAVMC policies (e.g. Fund Development Policy, Conflict-of-Interest Policy) should be considered in the decision-making process.

CODE OF ETHICAL CONDUCT

Consistent with its mission to provide leadership for and promote excellence in academic veterinary medicine, the AAVMC has adopted a Code of Ethical Conduct to guide its Board of Directors and other volunteers in their conduct when acting on behalf of the AAVMC. The Code of Ethical Conduct contains broad principles reflecting the types of behavior the AAVMC expects towards all of its stakeholder groups.

This policy is not intended as a stand-alone policy. It does not embody the totality of AAVMC ethical standards, nor does it answer every ethical question or issue that might arise. Rather, it is one element of a broader effort to create and maintain an organizational culture that gives ethical conduct the highest priority.

The Chief Operating Officer shall be responsible for communicating the Code of Ethical Conduct to all Board members and other volunteers.

Code of Ethical Conduct

Board of Directors and other volunteers shall:

- Listen to our stakeholders and make all reasonable efforts to satisfy their needs and concerns within the scope of our mission, and to strive for excellence and innovation and demonstrate professional respect and responsiveness to members, supporters and others.
- Make an effort to understand, respect and support our members from other cultures, exemplified by the contributions of our staff and executive leadership, and to contribute to an organizational culture that respects the diverse, individual contributions of staff and leadership.
- Respect the confidentiality of sensitive information about the AAVMC, its members, supporters, board, volunteers, and employees.
- Comply with applicable federal, state and local laws, regulations and fiduciary responsibilities in an effort to create transparency in all of our operations.
- For the board of directors, provide credible and effective oversight to the organization's work without personal bias.
- Not accept commissions, gifts, payments, loans, promises of future benefits, or other items of value from anyone who has or may seek some benefit from the AAVMC in return, other than occasional gifts of nominal value that are in keeping with good business ethics and consistent with the AAVMC's gift policy.
- Not engage in or facilitate any discriminatory or harassing behavior directed toward AAVMC staff, members, officers, directors, meeting attendees, exhibitors, advertisers, sponsors, suppliers, contractors, or others in the context of activities relating to the Association.
- Abide by all governing documents and policies of the AAVMC.

- Conduct the business affairs of the AAVMC in good faith and with honesty, integrity, due diligence, and reasonable competence.
- Act at all times in accordance with the highest ethical standards and in the best interest of the AAVMC, its stakeholders and reputation.

CONFLICT OF INTEREST

Policy

A person in a position of trust (AAVMC officers, members of the Board of Directors (Board), employees, committee members and other volunteers) shall not benefit personally, directly or indirectly, from their relationships with an entity, association or person conducting business with the AAVMC.

All those considered to be in positions of trust have an obligation to avoid a conflict of interest, or the appearance of a conflict of interest, between their personal interests and the interests of AAVMC. They are similarly obligated to make such real, potential or perceived conflict of interest explicit to the AAVMC. This policy shall apply to all AAVMC officers, members of the Board of Directors, employees, all AAVMC committees, task forces, and others in the AAVMC governance structure. This policy shall apply to ongoing and future activities.

Procedures

It is the responsibility of all persons in positions of trust to disclose potential or actual conflicts of interest. On an annual basis and more often if matters arise, all officers, members of the Board of Directors, council members and employees shall be provided with a copy of this policy and be required to complete and sign the acknowledgment and disclosure form (Appendix A). All completed forms, as well as other conflict information provided, shall be provided to and reviewed by the AAVMC Chief Executive Officer.

The AAVMC Chief Executive Officer shall forward such information on potential or actual conflicts of interest to the AAVMC Executive Committee and the AAVMC Ethics Committee. The AAVMC Ethics Committee will review the information and recommend whether further action may be warranted. They will make their recommendation to the AAVMC Executive Committee, which may decide on its own appropriate measures (if any) to be taken or which may at its discretion submit the matter for consideration to the full AAVMC Board of Directors. The AAVMC Executive Committee shall inform the Board of receipt of a potential or actual conflict of interest recommendation from the AAVMC Ethics Committee. The Board shall retain the right to modify or reverse such determination and action and shall retain the ultimate enforcement authority with respect to the interpretation and application of this policy.

In most circumstances, the disclosure of financial or other interests or relationships that pose potential conflicts of interest likely will be sufficient in addressing the potential conflict. If, however, in the view of the AAVMC Executive Committee or Board of Directors, disclosure of such interests or relationships alone is not adequate to ensure the integrity and credibility of the AAVMC, the affected individual may be asked to resolve the conflict by either withdrawing from the outside conflicting interest or relationship or withdrawing from participation in some or all AAVMC activities. Alternatively, the AAVMC Executive Committee or Board of Directors may provide for other means to resolve the conflict. Failure to disclose the existence of and all relevant facts surrounding material financial or other relationships can be grounds for disciplinary action and, if the failure to disclose is intentional, shall be grounds for removal from any participation in, service to, or employment by, AAVMC. The AAVMC Board of Directors shall serve as the final enforcement and interpretive authority with respect to these standards.

EMPLOYEE GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE

Policy

It is the AAVMC's goal to provide an effective way for employees to bring problems concerning their well-being at work to the attention of AAVMC management. Therefore, a grievance procedure has been established for the benefit and use of employees.

Procedure

When an employee believes a work condition, activity, or treatment is unjust, inequitable, unethical, and/or a hindrance to effective operations, s/he is encouraged to discuss the condition or treatment with management.

- Discussion of the problem with the immediate supervisor is encouraged as a first step.
- If the problem is not resolved after discussion with the supervisor, or if the employee thinks a discussion with the supervisor is inappropriate, the employee should bring the matter to the attention of the individual to whom the supervisor reports.
- If the problem is not resolved after discussion with the individual to whom the supervisor reports, or if the employee thinks a discussion with this individual is inappropriate, the employee should bring the matter to the attention of the Chief Operating Officer.
- If the employee does not believe a discussion with the Chief Operating Officer would be appropriate, the matter should be presented directly to the Chief Executive Officer.
- If the employee has elected to skip all prior steps for resolving a concern, regardless of reason, or the issue/concern has not been resolved with the Chief Executive Officer, the employee should raise the concern to the President of the AAVMC's Board of Directors.
- The President may either resolve the issue or consult with the Executive Committee of the Board of Directors on a final resolution of the grievance.

GUIDING PRINCIPLES AND CONSIDERATION: ETHICAL INTERACTIONS BETWEEN SCHOOLS/COLLEGES OF VETERINARY MEDICINE AND EXTERNAL ENTITIES

Introduction:

This document is intended to reflect the general principles and considerations that the Association of American Veterinary Medical Colleges (AAVMC) considers important in the development of policies related to interactions with industry, donors, or other external entities. It is not intended to be exhaustive of all possibilities or circumstances that may confront a school or college of veterinary medicine.

The AAVMC strongly encourages individual schools and colleges of veterinary medicine to develop and implement detailed policies, tailored to the individual institution, that ensure freedom from bias or inappropriate influences that might otherwise occur as a consequence of support from external entities.

Schools and colleges of veterinary medicine hold a public trust, with the expectation that educational, clinical, research and outreach programs will be based on the best, current and unbiased scientific knowledge. That information must be free of biases or inappropriate influences that may result from interactions with external entities, especially with companies that provide goods and services of value within veterinary medicine. Educational institutions and their faculty, staff and students can benefit in many ways from different types of support that can be provided by industry. The institution and the school/college share a responsibility of managing that support in a manner that ensures the integrity and independence of all of its academic programs.

Private philanthropy has also played a significant role in enhancing the educational programs of schools and colleges of veterinary medicine, and the importance of private philanthropy has grown remarkably in recent years. The foundation at the institution of each school/college will have its own established criteria for accepting or declining a gift and for determining whether a proposed gift is truly a gift, i.e., without expectations of a deliverable product, as would be expected from a research or educational contract. In addition to foundation criteria, however, the school or college should ensure that a gift does not influence the integrity of its decisions on such academic issues as curriculum, student admissions or academic advancement decisions, among others.

Definitions of terms used within this document:

- Industry or Industry Representatives: Manufacturers, servicers, and other vendors of pharmaceutical, medical and veterinary medical devices and supplies, commercial products, and medical and veterinary medical testing companies and their employees, representatives, agents, and vendors.
- Consortium: Represents a collection of companies or commercial concerns who may contribute resources to a common pool to a school/college. Such a consortium may be formally established or may simply represent a collection of companies whose gifts are pooled and administered by the institution.
- External entities: Include, but are not limited to, commercial companies, not-for-profit and/or charitable organizations, government (e.g., legislators), philanthropic groups, and individual donors.
- Faculty and Staff: All individuals holding appointments, whether paid, unpaid or emeritus, in a school/college.

- Institution: The university in which a school/college of veterinary medicine is administratively embedded.
- Foundation: The organization or office of the institution that is responsible for accepting gifts.
- School/college: An individual school or college of veterinary medicine.
- Student: All individuals enrolled in courses offered by the school/college or completing a course of study, e.g., as a trainee/fellow/graduate student within a school/college.

Background information for gifts and services:

1. Gifts and services to faculty, staff and students: Gifts and services to faculty, staff, individual students and student organizations may take many forms, such as pens, food and beverages, back-packs, items of clothing, books, and sporting/concert tickets. Such gifts have been shown to significantly influence the attitudes and preferences of the receiver, regardless of the value or nature of the gift.
2. Gifts and services to the school/college/teaching hospital from industry donors: Examples of these gifts include pharmaceutical or biological products, animal food/feed, equipment or monetary donations. Such gifts may influence the attitudes and preferences of faculty, staff and students, particularly if they are aware that these products have been provided as a gift by a specific entity rather than through a purchase by the institution. That influence is increased if faculty, staff and students are not exposed to competing products.
3. Gifts from individual companies versus gifts from an industry consortium: Gifts from an individual company, especially when dedicated to a specific purpose, can present a particular challenge for the institution struggling to provide appropriate recognition while seeking to avoid the creation of a preferential bias toward that company. That process may be eased, but not reduced in importance, when numerous companies provide resources toward a similar purpose through a consortium, with no single company serving as a dominant contributor. In such circumstances, it is incumbent on the school/college to maintain open access to other companies seeking to join the consortium, providing that all companies adhere to the same common consortium rules adopted by the school/college. Ultimately, the school/college must solely control the use and application of such resources.
4. Gifts to the school/college/teaching hospital from private donors: Examples of gifts from private donors can include monetary donations, facilities, land, and bequests. The normal and routine recognition of a private donor, e.g., a named room, building, scholarship, etc., may pose ethical issues such as maintaining the integrity of admissions and academic advancement decisions of a student who is a relative of the donor. The policies of the institution and its foundation will determine the decision to accept or reject a gift, as well as the level and nature of the recognition of a donor for that gift.

Important Principles:

- Transparency and disclosure: Faculty and staff who have financial interests in a company, as defined by the institution's conflict of interest policy, who are supported by grants/contracts from a company, serve as consultants to a company, or who may have similar relationships must clearly and openly disclose such relationships to students.
- Maintaining intellectual independence of individuals and the institution: The intellectual independence of faculty and staff must be maintained and protected. The independence is abrogated if/when faculty engage in such activities as accepting compensation for speaking engagements that limit their discretion regarding content or agree to have their name included on a publication to which they did not meaningfully contribute.

- Value of gifts and their impact: As noted previously, gifts, regardless of their nature or value, have been shown to influence attitudes and preferences of the receiver.
- Gifts such as pharmaceutical/biological products from a company or consortium of companies, if such gifts are permitted by the school/college/teaching hospital, should be managed centrally so they can be utilized without attribution to a specific company.
- Continuing veterinary medical education (CVME): All CVME programs developed and presented by a school/college must conform to the standards and processes of that school/college. While commercial companies, singly or as a consortium, may provide support for CVME programs, the school/college must maintain sole responsibility and control of the CVME program, e.g. selection of speakers, program content, etc.
- Gifts for scholarships/fellowships: Scholarships or similar funds, e.g. for graduate student or intern/resident support from a company should be given centrally to the school/college, and in a manner consistent with the gift acceptance policies of the institution and its foundation. Consistent with the widely accepted definition of a gift, a gift should not require a quid pro quo other than the normal level and nature of recognition and acknowledgement provided by the foundation of the receiving institution. The evaluation and selection of recipients of such gift funds must be determined by the school/college, without involvement of an individual company or consortium.
- Gifts versus contracts: Commercial concerns may wish to establish educational contracts with a school/college for specific educational activities, e.g., internship or residency training, typically for an individual designated by the company. Support provided for such purposes is to be distinguished from a gift, and in most institutions will follow a process for institutional and school/college approval that is similar, if not identical, to that of a research contract. Beyond such approval processes, the school/college holds the responsibility for establishing and implementing processes that ensure that educational contracts are consistent with the academic independence and integrity of the school/college and its training programs.
- Financial remuneration from industry: Remuneration by a company for services or skills provided, whether as a consultant, representative, etc, clearly introduces the potential of bias. Faculty and staff with such relationships are subject to their institution's conflict of interest policy. Students are not subject to those policies but may be approached by industry to serve as paid "student representatives" of a particular company. The compensation or considerations they may receive for such activities may influence their attitudes and preferences, similar to that of a gift. Each school and college should consider and address the practice of "student representatives" as they develop their policies for interaction with external entities.
- Integrity of purchasing decisions: Personnel employed by a school/college who have a financial interest, as defined by the institution's conflict of interest policy, in a company or commercial entity should not play a role in any school/college purchasing decisions that may involve products or services of that company.
- Use of generic versus brand names in instruction: The use of brand names in didactic instruction provides a clear risk of bias or undue influence. Consequently, the use of generic terms should be strongly encouraged, with the use of brand names reserved for circumstances when their use is important for clarity, student awareness, or to discuss differences between products. In such instances, the reason for brand identification should be made clear in the course syllabus and/or during the presentation.

The AAVMC is committed to working with its member schools/colleges to ensure that our professional and academic integrity are affirmed and maintained. These guidelines are reflective of that commitment and are intended to provide general guidance to schools and colleges of veterinary medicine. Each school/college retains the responsibility and authority to develop their own policies, individualized for that institution, to govern their interactions with external entities. Support from external entities, of all types, for schools and colleges of veterinary medicine has taken many forms over the years, and has significantly enhanced the success of the instructional, research, and outreach missions of our AAVMC constituent institutions. These guidelines, and the individual policies promulgated by each institution, are intended to manage such relationships and support in a manner that will maintain the public trust that is at the core of academic veterinary medicine and our profession.

WHISTLEBLOWER POLICY

Policy

This Whistleblower Policy of the AAVMC requires directors, officers, and employees to observe high standards of business and personal ethics in connection with the conduct of their duties and responsibilities at AAVMC. Employees and representatives of the AAVMC must practice honesty and integrity in fulfilling responsibilities and comply with all applicable laws and regulations. In that regard, the policy of AAVMC: (1) encourages individuals to come forward with credible information on illegal practices or serious violations of adopted policies of the Association; (2) specifies that the Association will protect the person from retaliation; and (3) identifies where such information can be reported.

Procedures

- Encouragement of Reporting. The Association encourages complaints, reports or inquiries about illegal practices or serious violations of the Association's policies, including illegal, improper or unethical conduct by the Association itself, by its leadership, or by others on its behalf. Appropriate subjects to raise under this policy would include financial improprieties, accounting or audit matters, ethical violations, or other similar illegal, improper or unethical practices or policies. Other subjects on which the Association has existing complaint mechanisms should be addressed under those mechanisms, such as raising matters of alleged discrimination or harassment via the Association's human resources channels, unless those channels are themselves implicated in the wrongdoing. This policy is not intended to provide a means of appeal from outcomes in those other mechanisms.
- Protection from Retaliation. The Association prohibits retaliation by or on behalf of the Association against directors, officers, or employees of AAVMC for making good faith complaints, reports, or inquiries under this policy or for participating in a review or investigation or responding to inquiries under this policy. This protection extends to those whose allegations are made in good faith but prove to be mistaken. The Association reserves the right to discipline persons who, upon review and/or investigation, it determines made bad faith, knowingly false, or vexatious complaints, reports, or inquiries or who otherwise abuse this policy.
- Where to Report. Complaints, reports or inquiries may be made under this policy on a confidential or anonymous basis. They should describe in detail the specific facts demonstrating the basis for the complaints, reports or inquiries. They should be directed to their supervisor, the Association's Chief Executive Officer, or the Association's President; if all of those persons are implicated in the complaint, report, or inquiry, it should be directed to the Association's Immediate Past-President or to anyone in management whom the employee feels comfortable in making the complaint, report or inquiry. The Association's officers, supervisors, managers are required to report suspected ethics violations to the Association's HR Representative, who has specific and exclusive responsibility to investigate all reported violations. For suspected fraud, or when employees are not satisfied or uncomfortable with reporting to a supervisor, manager, or the officers identified here, individuals should contact the Association HR Representative directly. The Association, through the HR Representative, or others as directed by the Board of Directors, will conduct a prompt, discreet, and objective review or investigation. Individuals must recognize that the Association may be unable to fully evaluate a vague or general complaint, report, or inquiry that is made anonymously.
- HR Representative. AAVMC's HR Representative is responsible for investigating and resolving all reported complaints and allegations concerning violations and, at the HR Representative's discretion, shall advise the Chief Executive Officer and/or the finance committee. The HR

Representative has direct access to the finance committee of the Board of directors and is required to report to the finance committee at least annually on compliance activity.

Handling of Reported Violations

The HR Representative will notify the sender and acknowledge receipt of the reported violation or suspected violation within five (5) business days. All reports will be promptly investigated, and appropriate corrective action will be taken if warranted by the review or investigation.

- The proxy is limited to a particular issue during the meeting, and the Representative holding the proxy may vote at his/her discretion.
- The proxy covers several issues during the meeting, but the Representative holding the proxy must vote following the direction of the representative assigning the proxy.

COMMITTEES OF THE ASSEMBLY

AAVMC committees are expected to function in an advisory capacity to the Board of Directors and the Assembly. Because the number of programmatic activities is necessarily limited by resources, both financial and personnel, committees need to consider their program agendas with respect to the AAVMC Strategic Plan and the priorities set by the Board. Committee requests for either financial or staff assistance must be approved by the Board of Directors before any resources will be provided. To this end, each committee will submit a work plan at the beginning of each year, which should include the following information:

- The officers of the committee;
- The charge of the committee;
- Specific work plan for the next year;
- Relationship of work plan to the AAVMC Strategic Plan; and
- Resources needed (financial and staff).

Membership of each committee should be determined by the expertise needed to accomplish the goals most effectively and not based on institutional work assignments. In some instances more diverse input can be very important in accomplishing the stated goals. Committees are to function in a cost-effective manner, accomplishing much of their work via electronic conferencing. Thus, committees would not depend solely on lengthy face to face meetings at the March annual meeting or similar meetings at the AVMA meeting.

Because each committee has a rather broad scope, use of short-term ad hoc committees or task forces with very specific goals and timelines is encouraged. Such groups would report to the whole committee for final decisions and recommendations to the Board of Directors.

All committees will report the outcome of their efforts to the Board of Directors on a regular basis, either annually or more frequently if there are more urgent matters requiring action in a timelier manner. The Board may either approve such actions or refer the recommendations to the Assembly for further consideration.

Membership of Assembly Committees shall consist of representatives of member institutions at the appropriate rank or job responsibility consistent with the charge and objectives of each committee. Committees are established and disbanded by the Assembly.

Committees shall select an executive leadership group in accordance with procedures established by the members of such committees. The executive group shall consist of, at a minimum, a chairperson, chairperson-elect, and past chairperson. The executive group shall be responsible for planning committee meetings, preparing committee reports, and making recommendations to the Board of Directors on an annual basis or more frequently as appropriate.

The Committees of the Assembly shall include the following committees:

- Academic Affairs Committee
- Admissions Committee
- Advocacy Committee
- Diversity Committee
- JVME Editorial Board
- One Health Committee
- Research Committee

BOARD STRUCTURE AND OPERATIONS

AAVMC ENTITY DEFINITIONS

AAVMC councils, committees, working groups and task forces function in an advisory capacity to the Board of Directors and the Assembly. Councils, committees, working groups and task forces may be formed or eliminated at the discretion of the President in consultation with the Board of Directors. (Policies & Procedures Manual, p. 53-54). While AAVMC consortia do not function in an advisory capacity to the Board of Directors and the Assembly, they must report their activities to the Board of Directors annually.

Consortium – A group of AAVMC Member Institutions may form a consortium to voluntarily work together to achieve a common objective. Consortia raise their own money through the collection of dues from members of the consortium or from grants and awards from external entities. Consortia are autonomous in the development and implementation of their purpose and scope but must be consistent with the AAVMC’s mission and abide by AAVMC policies and procedures. Consortia must be approved by the Board of Directors and will continue to operate until the members agree to disband the consortium or AAVMC terminates the consortium. (See Guidelines for Establishing an AAVMC Consortium, Policies and Procedures Manual p. 58)

Council – AAVMC may establish councils comprised of subject-matter experts to address broad areas of interest. Councils are semi-autonomous in that they develop their own work plans and execute their own program budget but must report regularly to the Board of Directors. Council members are appointed by the AAVMC President. Councils operate indefinitely or until objectives are met.

Committee – Committees are established to focus on issues that require ongoing attention. Committees provide guidance, recommendations, and insights on their specific focus areas. Committee members are appointed by the AAVMC President. Committees are enduring and have no fixed endpoint but are reviewed every 3 years by the Governance Committee.

Working Group – Working groups consist of subject matter experts who collaborate to address specific short- to medium-term initiatives. Working groups may be given a budget for meetings and consultants. Working groups are assembled by the AAVMC President and report their findings and recommendations to the Board of Directors. Working groups typically operate for 3-5 years.

Task Force – A task force is a group of experts in a specified area of knowledge formed to address a single issue. Task forces are intended to produce a specific output, report findings and recommendations to the Board of Directors, and then disband when the objective has been met. Like working groups, task forces are created on an as-needed basis and members are appointed by the AAVMC President. Task forces should be constituted for no more than 12-18 months.

Meetings of the Board shall be held at such time and place as shall be specified in a notice given in sufficient time for the convenient assembly of the Directors. A yearly calendar of scheduled Board meetings shall be issued thirty (30) days after elections of the new Board. Any other meeting not included in the yearly calendar will be special meetings.

Two or more Board members may call for a special meeting. Written, oral, or any other mode of notice of the time and place shall be given for special meetings. The notice of any meeting shall specify the business to be transacted or the purpose of the meeting.

Notice of any adjournment of a meeting of the Board of Directors to another time or place because a quorum is not present shall be given to the Directors who were not present at the time of the adjournment and, unless such time and place are announced at the meeting, to the other Directors. Any requirement to furnish notice to Directors shall be waived by any Director who signs a waiver of notice before or after the meeting. A Director's attendance at any meeting shall constitute a waiver of notice of such meeting, unless such attendance was solely for the purpose of objection to the transaction of business because the meeting was not lawfully called or convened.

Whenever a vacancy or vacancies in the Board of Directors shall prevent a quorum from consisting of a majority of the full Board of Directors, a quorum shall consist of not less than one-third (1/3) of the full Board of Directors. A majority of the Directors present, whether or not a quorum is present, may adjourn a meeting to another time and place. Except as otherwise provided by statute, the Articles of Incorporation, or these Bylaws, the vote of a majority of the Directors present at the time of the vote, if a quorum is present at such time, shall constitute the act of the Board of Directors. If, on any matter coming before the Board of Directors, the number of Directors who vote in favor of such matter is equal to the number of Directors who vote against such matter (a "deadlock"), the President shall cast the deciding vote. The voting rights of a Director shall not be delegated to another nor exercised by proxy.

EXECUTIVE SUCCESSION

Policy

It is the policy of the AAVMC to be prepared for the inevitable change in executive leadership – either planned or unplanned – to ensure the stability and accountability of the Association until such time as a new permanent Chief Executive Officer is identified. The Board of Directors shall be responsible for implementing this policy and its related procedures.

The Board of Directors shall assess the permanent leadership needs of the Association to help ensure the selection of a qualified and capable leader who is representative of the Association; a good fit for the Association's mission, vision, values, and goals; and who has the necessary skills for the Association. To ensure that the Association's operations are not interrupted while the Board assesses the leadership needs and recruits a permanent Chief Executive Officer, the Board shall appoint interim executive leadership. The interim Chief Executive Officer shall ensure that the Association continues to operate without disruption and that all commitments previously made are adequately executed.

Procedures

Emergency/Unplanned Departure

1. For a temporary change in executive leadership (i.e., illness or leave of absence for 30 days or less), the chief operating officer shall temporarily be in the charge of the daily operations and essential duties of Chief Executive Officer.
2. In the event the Chief Executive Officer is no longer able to serve in this position (i.e. leaves the position permanently), the Executive Committee of the Board of Directors shall appoint an interim Chief Executive Officer or acting Chief Executive Officer.
3. In the event that a permanent change in leadership is required, the AAVMC president shall appoint an Executive Transition Committee within fifteen (15) business days. This committee shall be comprised of at least two members of the Executive Committee, and two other Board Members. It shall be the responsibility of this committee to implement the following preliminary succession plan:
 - Communicate with key stakeholders regarding actions taken by the Board in naming an interim successor, appointing a transition committee, and implementing the succession policy. The organization shall maintain a current list of key stakeholders who must be contacted (e.g., member institutions, corporate sponsors, allied organizations, banking institutions, etc.)
 - Consider the need for consulting assistance (i.e., transition management, executive search consultant) based on the circumstances of the transition.
 - Review the Association's strategic plan and conduct a brief assessment of organizational strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats to identify priority issues that may need to be addressed during the transition process, and to identify attributes and characteristics that are important to consider in the selection of the next permanent leader.
 - Establish a timeframe and plan for recruitment and selection process.

- Refer to the Chief Executive Officer Job Description for sample of job description and qualifications.

4. In the event that an executive transition simultaneously involves the Chief Executive Officer and other key management staff, the Board may also consider temporarily subcontracting some of the organizational functions from a trained consultant or other organizations.

Detailed procedures for implementing an emergency/unplanned departure of the Chief Executive Officer are in the Executive Succession and Organizational Sustainability Plan.

Defined/Planned Departure

Refer to the Executive Succession and Organizational Sustainability Plan for detailed procedures for implementing a departure-defined or future planned departure of the Chief Executive Officer.

POLICY FOR SUPPORT/OPPOSITION

AAVMC is periodically asked to support or oppose specific pieces of legislations, as well as to sign-on to letters that are sent to members of Congress or federal agencies. These requests present an opportunity to strengthen our relationships with other organizations as part of a permanent or ad hoc coalition, to express our position on a particular issue, to increase our visibility in the health professions community, and to increase the reputation of our membership as a source of expertise. Publicly supporting or opposing legislation or signing on to a group letter that endorses or opposes a stated position, are both actions that must be consistent with our mission and represent the best interests of our members. To ensure these goals are met, the following procedures will be followed:

- When requests arrive for AAVMC to sign-on to letters or to support or oppose legislation, they should be evaluated on the following basis:
 - Is the request for something that AAVMC has routinely signed onto/endorsed/opposed in the past (for example, annual appropriations requests)?
 - Is the request consistent with current stated AAVMC policy or positions?
- If the answer to either (a) or (b) above is yes, the Director of Governmental Affairs will have the discretion and responsibility to add AAVMC as a signatory, or to signal support or opposition. If the request is legislative, the Director of Governmental Affairs should consult with and inform the Advocacy Committee.
- If the answer to both (a) and (b) above is no, or it is unclear, the Director of Governmental Affairs will consult first with the AAVMC staff member who oversees the issue in question, and then with the Chief Executive Officer.
- The Chief Executive Officer will have discretion to approve any endorsement or statement of opposition or determine if the issue requires further approval from the Board of Directors.
- In the interest of transparency, the communications staff will maintain a public record of all letters and position papers that AAVMC endorses, visible on the AAVMC website for up to one year. The Director of Governmental Affairs will also keep the legislative agenda updated for the current Congress, as well as keeping the Advocacy Committee apprised.

STUDENT TRANSFERS

Before a member college will consider a request for transfer, the recipient college will require written notification from the Dean or Associate Dean for Academic Affairs at the school/college in which the student is currently enrolled. The written notification should confirm that the student is currently in good standing based on both academic and conduct factors.

The college considering the request for transfer should obtain written authorization from the applicant to obtain complete information regarding his status at the current school or college. A copy of the authorization should accompany the request for notification on the applicant's status.
