

Dr. Heidi Banse is presently Associate Dean for Educational Strategy and Associate Professor of Equine Medicine at LSU School of Veterinary Medicine. She obtained her DVM from Washington State University in 2007, and completed a combined residency (equine internal medicine) and PhD program at Oklahoma State University in 2013. After four years on faculty at the University of Calgary in Alberta, Canada, she moved to Louisiana State University, where she presently leads curricular reform and faculty development in teaching. She has diverse experiences in veterinary clinical practice with respect to scope of practice (ranging from general ambulatory to specialty referral) and practice environment (embedded in private practice versus working in a teaching hospital).